

The Knight Fellowships Program congratulates Deepa Fernandes and Claudia Nuñez on winning John S. Knight Fellowships for the 2011-12 academic year.

Deepa Fernandes, journalist and executive director, People's Production House, New York, New York.

Claudia Nuñez,
reporter, La Opinión, Los Angeles.

John S. Knight Journalism Fellowships

at STANFORD UNIVERSITY

This ambitious program is generating journalism's new vanguard of change: men and women who will be a force for innovation, entrepreneurship and leadership. Fellows spend their year absorbing knowledge, honing skills and developing journalism prototypes that will enable them to be effective innovators immediately and for years to come. And they do it the way Knight Fellows always have: They set their own course and alter it as they see fit. They leverage the resources of a great university and Silicon Valley. And they learn from rich interactions with journalists from around the world.

What are we looking for ?

We want journalists and journalism innovators who have already accomplished a lot and are ambitious to do more. Ideally, candidates will have at least seven years of professional experience.

John S. Knight Fellowships
Building 120, Room 422
Stanford, CA 94305-2050
e-mail: info@kf.stanford.edu

What you'll receive:

Fellows receive a stipend of $60,000, plus Stanford tuition and supplements for moving expenses, health insurance, books, housing and child care. All program activities and most classes are open to spouses and partners of Fellows.

For more information, please explore our website: <http://knight.stanford.edu>

The application deadlines for academic year 2012-2013 are:
Dec. 1, 2011 for International applicants — Feb. 1, 2012 for U.S. applicants